Safety is a top priority and all employees have a responsibility to make sure the workplace is safe. All employees should report unsafe conditions to their supervisor, Human Resources, the General Manager, or the Regional Vice President.

Our Company’s progress and success depends largely on the cooperation and teamwork of each employee, regardless of the position. Customer satisfaction is the Company’s number one commitment. The full use of your knowledge, experience, abilities, and energy are important to our success as we work together to attain excellence.

This employee handbook provides information concerning our Company policies and practices. We encourage you to discuss with the General Manager, Human Resources, or your Supervisor any questions you may have regarding the Company’s policies described in this handbook or items that are not addressed in this Handbook.

Please remember that if you will treat everyone you meet - customers and coworkers alike - in the manner you would like to be treated, you will find your work very rewarding. We are proud to have you as a member of our team.

A WORD ABOUT THIS HANDBOOK AND EMPLOYMENT AT WILL POLICY

The success of the Company depends on the competence and integrity of those who conduct its affairs. All employees bear a special responsibility to customers, to the General Manager, and to their fellow employees, all of whom expect standards of honesty, fairness, and quality. These traits enhance our Company’s reputation and help ensure success. Complete teamwork involves effort and cooperation by every member of the Company.

The Company expects each employee to follow the Company’s policies and procedures, which enables the Company to operate effectively and to provide quality service for customers. All statements were formulated without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex (including pregnancy), age, disability, or other protected categories.

Additionally, personnel policies are principles of personnel administration and are stated in definitive language, especially where the law is involved. In some areas of the handbook, however, the language is less restrictive and allows latitude in consideration of the facts of each situation. The text of the English original shall in all respects control an employee’s rights and obligations.

This handbook summarizes Company policies and practices. It is designed to acquaint you with the Company, and therefore you will find it to your advantage to read the entire handbook promptly. These policies are intended as guidelines only. Consequently, in appropriate circumstances, the Company reserves the right to proceed differently than described in these guidelines. The Company reserves the right to make decisions involving employment as needed, and has the sole and absolute discretion to amend, supplement or rescind any policy, practice or benefit contained in this employee handbook, except employment at will. This handbook supersedes and replaces all prior handbooks, policies, procedures and practices of the Company. This handbook does not constitute a contract.

Your employment with the Company is entered into voluntarily, and you are free to resign at any time. Similarly, the Company may terminate the employment relationship at any time when, in its sole discretion, it believes it is in the Company's best interests. Neither this handbook, any Company policy, procedure, or other document, or any other communication by a managerial representative is intended in any way to create a contract of employment. Rather, employment at the Company is on an "at-will" basis. Any oral statements contrary to the foregoing or regarding future employment are not authorized and should not be relied upon unless confirmed in writing by the CEO of the Company. Supervisors do not have authority to make oral agreements guaranteeing employees' future promotions, pay raises, benefits, reassignments or transfers. Any such assurances must be in writing and signed by the CEO to be enforceable. Nothing in this paragraph or in this handbook shall be construed to affect the rights of employees and employers as defined by any applicable collective bargaining agreement or as established by federal law.

All references to the "Company" in this Manual shall be defined as Starcorp, LLC, Starcorp CJ, LLC, Starcorp HD, LLC, Administrative Services NSD, SRL and any other companies or affiliates managed by or affiliated with Starcorp, LLC.

To the extent your state law conflicts with the provisions in this handbook, the Company will comply with the state law as long as it is not inconsistent with federal law.

The provisions of this Handbook are independent of and separate and severable from each other, and no provision shall be affected or rendered invalid or unenforceable by virtue of the fact that for any reason any other or others of them may be invalid or unenforceable in whole or in part.

If you have any questions or concerns your General Manager is responsible for the operations of your Store and is a good source of information about the Company and your job.

DISCIPLINE

Discipline includes but is not limited to: verbal warning, written warning, suspension, demotion, transfer, termination or any other action.

The Company retains the right to terminate an employee's employment at any time with or without cause or advance notice. All employees are at-will.

TERMINATION OF EMPLOYMENT

Upon termination, it is your responsibility to see that all Company property, keys, etc., are properly turned in prior to being issued your final paycheck.

RESIGNATION PROCEDURES

Should an employee decide to resign, all Company-owned property (keys, credit cards, technical manuals, etc.) must be returned at the time employment is terminated. Employees who resign their employment are requested, but not required, to give two weeks' advance notice. Remember, your employment with this Company becomes a permanent part of your work history, and advance notice of your resignation will be noted favorably if an employee were to reapply for employment with the Company. Employees should notify the Company of any address changes to ensure that tax information and other communications are sent to the correct address.

REHIRED EMPLOYEES

Employees who are classified as "eligible for rehire", when they separated from the Company, will be considered for rehire along with all other applicants. Their prior record with the Company will be considered in making rehire decisions. Employees who were classified as "ineligible for rehire" will not be considered for further employment with the Company.

PROMOTIONS AND TRANSFERS

The Company believes that career advancement is rewarding for both the employee and our Company. Although promotions are not guaranteed and the Company has the discretion to hire externally, the Company will consider qualified employees for promotion to new or vacated positions. In addition, supervisors are available to discuss transfer opportunities with employees. In certain circumstances an employee transfer may be mandatory based on business needs.

PERFORMANCE REVIEWS

Our performance review program is designed to provide a basis for better understanding between you and your supervisor, with respect to your job performance, potential and development within the Company. Performance reviews may be conducted during intervals established by the Company in its discretion, and may be formal or informal, written or verbal.

ON CALL

It may be necessary for individuals in certain positions to be available by telephone after hours during the week or on the weekend. All salaried positions are considered on call positions.

ATTENDANCE AND PUNCTUALITY

Attendance and punctuality are important factors for an employee's success with the Company and are a condition of employment. Employees are expected to report for work each day on time. Absenteeism and tardiness are expensive, disruptive, and they place an unfair burden on the Company, including other employees and supervisors. Unsatisfactory attendance, including reporting late or quitting early may result in disciplinary action, including suspension and/or discharge.

The Company relies on you to report to work regularly and on time. If you are going to be late or absent, you must contact your Supervisor immediately. If you are unable to report for work, regardless of the reason, you are to report the nature of your absence to your Supervisor as far in advance as possible, but in no case later than three hours before your scheduled starting time to provide the Company adequate time to cover your shift. If you have to leave early, you must obtain approval from your Supervisor. You are expected to call the Company prior to each shift that you are absent.

It is within the discretion of the employee's supervisor to determine if an absence will be considered as excused or unexcused. Failure to give notification of an absence will automatically be considered as unexcused. If an employee is absent without notifying the Company, it may be presumed that the employee has voluntarily abandoned their position and resigned from the Company. If notice is given and the Company does not think it justifies the absence, it will be considered unexcused.

The Company will take disciplinary action, up to and including termination, where attendance or tardiness is unacceptable. Unauthorized absence or excessive tardiness or failure to contact your Supervisor during an absence in excess of two (2) working days is grounds for discipline, up to and including termination.

PROOF OF ABSENCE

If your absence is due to illness or injury, you may be required to provide a doctor's report supporting the necessity of your absence, as well as your ability to return to work, within 15 days of the absence or tardiness. It may also be required that you be examined by a physician appointed by the Company, at Company expense. If your absence is the result of personal emergency other than illness or injury, documentation showing proof that your absence was necessary also may be required.

COMPANY PROPERTY

Each employee should respect the property of other employees as well as that of the Company. To willfully damage, destroy, or alter in any way machinery, equipment, materials, or other Company property or to remove any Company property without prior authorization is strictly prohibited. Should you inadvertently damage Company property, please report the incident to your supervisor.

All employees are expected to exercise care in the use of Company property and to use such property only for authorized purposes. Negligence in the care and use of Company property may result in suspension and/or termination. Unauthorized removal of Company property from the premises or its conversion to personal use may also result in suspension and/or termination.

Company property issued to you must be returned at the time your employment terminates or when management requests its return. The value of any property issued and not returned may be deducted from an employee's paycheck as permitted by state law. Additionally, any damage or loss to company property due to the employee's negligence may be deducted from the employee's paycheck as permitted by state law. The Company assumes no responsibility for loss or damage to the personal property of an employee.

CONSTRUCTIVE DISCHARGE; PROCEDURE BEFORE RESIGNING DUE TO UNPLEASANT WORKING CONDITIONS

You are encouraged to communicate to the Company whenever you believe working conditions may become intolerable to you and may cause you to resign. If you believe that you are being forced to resign due to unpleasant working conditions or unfair treatment, you should submit a written letter or memo to Human Resources to notify the Company of the problem. If you believe that you cannot continue to work while waiting for the Company to respond, you may be entitled to a leave of up to 15 days. The Company's policy is that such a leave will be unpaid.

Employees in Arizona are required under Section 23-1502, Arizona Revised Statutes, to notify an appropriate representative of the employer in writing that a working condition exists that the employee believes is intolerable, that will compel the employee to resign or that constitutes a constructive discharge if the employee wants to preserve the right to bring a claim against the employer alleging that the working condition forced the employee to resign.

Under the law, an employee may be required to wait for fifteen calendar days after providing written notice before the employee may resign if the employee desires to preserve the right to bring a constructive discharge claim against the employer.

EMPLOYMENT POLICIES

IMMIGRATION LAW COMPLIANCE

The Company is committed to employing only United States citizens and aliens who are authorized to work in the United States and does not unlawfully discriminate on the basis of citizenship or national origin. In compliance with the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, each new employee, as a condition of employment, must complete the Employment Eligibility Verification Form I-9 and present documentation establishing identity and employment eligibility. All offers of employment are contingent upon satisfying these federal requirements and any additional state-specific requirement.

E-VERIFY

Where required by law, the Company uses E-Verify. E-Verify is an internet-based federal government system that allows businesses to confirm the eligibility of their employees to work in the United States. The Company will use E-Verify to confirm the employment authorization of all newly-hired employees.

The Company will not use E-Verify to pre-screen job applicants and will not limit or influence the choice of documents presented for use on the Form I-9.

The Company uses E-Verify's photo screening tool, when applicable, to match the photograph appearing on some permanent resident and employment authorization cards, a U.S. Passport, or a U.S. Passport Card with the official U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) photograph.

EMPLOYMENT OF RELATIVES

Although the Company does not strictly prohibit the employment of relatives in all circumstances, there are significant restrictions on the employment of relatives. In some cases, the employment of relatives has the potential to cause serious conflicts and problems with favoritism and employee morale. In addition to claims of partiality in treatment at work, personal conflicts from outside the work environment can be carried into day-to-day working relationships.

Relatives of current employees are eligible for employment with the Company, however the Company reserves the right (to be determined on an individual, case by case basis) to transfer one of the employees into a position where potential problems of supervision, safety, security, morale, or potential conflicts of interest will not exist. For purposes of this policy, a relative is any person who is related by blood or marriage or whose relationship is similar to that of persons who are related by blood or marriage. This includes but is not limited to an employee's parent, child, spouse, brother, sister, in-laws and step relationships.

If two employees marry, are dating, or become related, and any of the potential problems noted above exist, only one of the employees will be permitted to remain in the same Store. The other employee must either transfer to a different location if a position exists, or must separate their employment with the Company. The decision as to which relative will remain in the same Store and which one will be transferred or separated from the Company will be made by the Company depending on the needs of the business.

In cases where a conflict or the potential for conflict arises between two employees, even if there is no reporting relationship involved, the Company reserves the right to separate the parties by transferring or separating one or both of the employees from the Company.

OUTSIDE EMPLOYMENT

Employees may hold jobs outside of the Company as long as the outside employment does not interfere with the performance of their duties for the Company and they meet the performance standards of their job with the Company. All employees will be subject to the Company's scheduling demands regardless of any existing outside work requirements. If management determines that an employee's outside work interferes with their performance, or their ability to meet the requirements of their position at the Company, we may request that the employee terminate their outside employment if the employee wishes to remain with the Company. Outside employment that constitutes a conflict of interest is prohibited.

PAYROLL-RELATED INFORMATION

WORK SCHEDULE & EXCHANGING SHIFTS

Working hours may vary. The General Manager will assign individual work schedules. Employees are expected to work the hours posted on their work schedule and be at their work station at the start of their scheduled shift, ready to perform their work. If you need to change your schedule or need a special day off, ask your supervisor for the correct procedure to follow. Punctual and consistent attendance is a condition of employment.

If it becomes necessary for an employee to leave the Company's premises during working hours, permission to leave must be obtained from the employee's supervisor before the employee leaves. Employees who leave the premises for personal business or business that is not part of their job, must clock out when they leave. This provides us with a permanent record of your time should there be any questions regarding compensation for hours worked, an accident "on-the-job," or workers' compensation. Employees who leave without prior approval from management may be deemed to have "walked off the job" and as such, may have voluntarily terminated their employment.

For the efficient and smooth operation of our Stores, Management reserves the right to schedule hours and adjust the work schedule or to assign employees to jobs other than their usual assignments as appropriate to manage the business. Accordingly, the General Manager may increase or decrease an employee's hours and may require overtime work as he/she deems necessary and appropriate. The Company offers no guarantee of shifts assigned, days of work or number of hours scheduled. These decisions will be made based on our business needs.

Any personal time must be cleared with your Supervisor. The Company does not compensate employees who take personal time.

An employee is not permitted to exchange shifts with another employee without the prior authorization of their supervisor. No authorization for exchanging shifts will be granted unless the exchange can be accomplished without interference with the Company's operations and without either employee working overtime.

TIME RECORDS

Federal laws require that an accurate record of hours worked by every employee must be kept. Hourly employees must clock in and out on the Time Recording system using their assigned employee numbers. Employees are required to sign a certification sheet acknowledging that the time recorded is a true and accurate representation of the time that the employee actually worked. Employees are not permitted to clock in/out for another employee. Misuse of time records may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

Salaried, exempt personnel are not required to punch a time card, fill out a time card, or sign a time sheet, but may be asked to do so. In addition, salaried, exempt employees will not receive overtime compensation.

MEAL AND REST PERIODS

Non-exempt hourly employees are provided the following breaks, unless state law requires otherwise. Where state law requires additional breaks, the Company will comply with the requirements of state law:

4 - 7 hour shift = one 10 minute paid Rest period,
7 hour shift or more = one 30 minute unpaid Meal period.

Employees should consult with their manager to determine if the employee's schedule includes scheduled meal or break periods. Employees must take meal and break periods when scheduled and may not skip meal or break periods unless approved in advance by a supervisor. Employees are expected to observe assigned working hours and the time allowed for break periods. Employees should not leave the premises during 10 minute rest periods because they are considered "on duty."

You may be requested to end your rest period early and return to work due to an unforeseen circumstance (i.e. increase of volume, a peer is suddenly not able to work, etc.) in which case you will be allowed to finish your complete rest period later in your shift.

You are not permitted to eat or chew anything (e.g., gum, ice or candy) while on duty and in view of our guests. Also, all drinks are to be consumed only in the break area.

Employees must strictly adhere to this policy. Employees who violate this policy may be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment

PAYDAYS AND PAYCHECKS

The pay period is Tuesday through Monday. Employees are paid biweekly on every other Monday. Each paycheck covers work performed through the end of the pay period completed the week prior to the payday. Non-exempt employees are responsible to ensure that their time records are accurate and complete. Falsification of time records or completion of another employee's time records may result in immediate termination.

Employees should review paychecks and let Human Resources know about any errors immediately but no later than seven (7) days after receiving the paycheck.

Paychecks are no different than cash. If for any reason an employee loses their paycheck or it is stolen, a replacement check may not be issued unless 45 days has passed from the date the original check was issued and it has not been cashed.

No one besides you may pick up your paycheck.

FINAL PAYMENT

Employees who resign or whose employment is terminated will receive a final paycheck according to the requirements of the state law in the state in which the employee works, but no later than the next regular payday. To the extent permitted by applicable state law, all money that the employee owes to the Company will be withheld from the final paycheck. Prior to receiving the final paycheck the employee needs to turn in any Company issued equipment or it will be deducted from the final paycheck to the extent permitted by applicable state law.

PERSONAL INFORMATION

It is important for the Company to maintain up-to-date records. Anytime you change your home address or telephone number, please notify Human Resources immediately. Also, if there is any change that would affect your payroll deductions, such as a change of name, number of dependents, etc., let your Supervisor know immediately. Please verify the accuracy of your social security number with every paycheck.

OVERTIME

Overtime is defined as hours worked by non-exempt employees in excess of 40 hours per work week. The Company requires that employees must obtain approval of a Supervisor in writing prior to working overtime. Violations of such rule can subject the employee to discipline, up to and including termination. Overtime may be required when necessitated by business operations. If asked to work overtime, you will be expected to cooperate. Overtime will be paid to non-exempt employees at 1.5 times the employee's regular rate. Non-work time, such as vacation, sick leave, or holiday hours, are not included when calculating overtime.

MINIMUM WAGE REPORTING POLICY

Our Company's success depends upon each employee. It is truly a team effort by all of us to do the work necessary to exceed our customers' expectations for the benefit of our Company and all employees.

Our Company philosophy is to make sure that all employees are compensated fairly, based upon their job duties and performance.

Because we treat all minimum wage issues very seriously, the Company requires that if you believe that you have not received the minimum wage, you must submit a written communication or email within one week to the Director of Human Resources.

If you have any information that another employee may not have received the minimum wage, you are required to submit that information in writing or by email within one week to the Director of Human Resources.

If any employee has not received the minimum wage, the Company will take prompt corrective action. We will not retaliate against anyone for reporting minimum wage questions or concerns. We encourage, indeed, we require, that employees communicate their concerns about minimum wage matters so that the Company may address such matters as quickly as possible and take early corrective action if it is discovered that anyone has not been paid correctly.

PAYROLL DEDUCTIONS

Various payroll deductions are made each payday in order to fulfill federal and state government requirements. Deductions will be made for the following reasons:

1. Federal Income Tax (withholding tax);
2. State Income Tax;
3. Federal Insurance Contribution Act (social security);
4. Employees' Share of Group Insurance Premiums;
5. Any Court-ordered Deductions or Garnishments; and
6. Any Voluntary Deductions.

Your deductions will be itemized on your paycheck stub. You should review your paycheck stub carefully each payday. If at any time you have any questions about the amounts shown on your paycheck or how they are calculated, you should contact Human Resources. Employees are responsible to review their paychecks for accuracy and contact Human Resources no later than seven (7) days after receiving a paycheck.

Tax withholding is based on the number of dependents you claim on the W-4 form which you complete. Each employee is responsible for the accuracy of that form and for updating the information when necessary.

WAGE ATTACHMENTS/GARNISHMENTS

Employees are encouraged to settle their financial affairs in such a manner that garnishments, tax levies, and wage assignments are avoided. Excessive garnishments, tax levies, and wage assignments may result in discipline, up to and including termination.

The Company will not assist any creditor, private party, or outside agency in the collection of any employee personal debt or other financial obligation, except that under certain legal procedures known as garnishments, tax levies, and wage assignments, the Company is required to take action. If your wages are attached, the Company is required by law to withhold from your earnings and pay a specified amount each pay period, subject to certain limitations, until the terms of the attachment are satisfied.

The priorities of garnishments and the maximum amount that may be garnished will be determined by state law. Additionally, the Company may deduct an administrative fee from the nonexempt earnings of the employee as provided by state law.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Under the Federal Social Security Act, your yearly taxable earnings are reported to Social Security, and the Company is required to deduct a Social Security tax on your salary. This tax, along with an equal amount paid by the Company, is sent each payday to the federal government for credit to your account. When the worker becomes retired or disabled, the Act may provide a monthly income for workers and their families and provides for certain payments to survivors in case of death.

WORKERS' COMPENSATION POLICY

If an occupational injury or disease causes you to lose time from your job, you generally will be eligible for compensation under Worker's Compensation Act. This insurance will provide for medical and hospital expense and partial salary compensation. There is no cost to the employee for this insurance.

Every injury at work must be reported to your Supervisor immediately so that your protection under this coverage is assured. If an employee is injured while participating in a fight or after instigating a fight or while impaired with drug(s) or alcohol, entitlement to workers' compensation may be denied.

Workers' compensation insurance reimburses the employee for medical expenses that results from an injury incurred at the employee's regular place of work or on Company business away from the regular place of work. Any accident on the job, no matter how small, should be reported promptly to your supervisor. If an employee is injured while on the job, the employee must notify his or her supervisor and must obtain medical treatment as soon as possible.

In addition, there is a death benefit that is paid when death results from a work-related injury. The full cost of this program is provided for each employee by the Company.

The attending physician will submit a report of industrial injury to the state workers compensation administrator. Additionally, the Company is also required to submit a report to our insurance company. Please, carefully read the following information. It is important that all employees understand the way the system operates.

A. Reporting Workplace Injuries.

1. Seek medical treatment as soon as possible. If the Company designates a facility, you must seek treatment at the Company's designated facility, unless it is an emergency.
2. Notify your Supervisor of the accident and injury.
3. When at the doctor's office, complete your portion of the "Worker's and Physician's Report of Injury," or similar form accurately and clearly, then sign it.
4. Furnish your physician with the same information you gave the Company regarding circumstances of your accident or injury.
5. Keep the Company informed of your current mailing address and street address at all times. If you use a post office box number, inform the insurance company of your street address as well.
6. We will log the industrial injury report in our office on your personnel records. Some injuries may be logged, even though a physician's attention may not be required. We will be following each employee's safety record very closely. Any employee will be required to take a drug test if he has an industrial injury. While we realize we are all in a hazardous occupation and accidents do happen, the majority of accidents are due to carelessness or are drug/alcohol related. Safety is of the utmost importance to us at the Company, and we expect each one of our employees to act accordingly.

7. You must cooperate with your physician's treatment plan, including keeping all doctors' appointments.
8. You must keep your immediate supervisor, the loss prevention department and/or the human resources department informed about all visits to the physician and the results of those visits. You are required to provide the Company with documentation of your visits to the physician within 24 hours after the visit.
9. All employees must cooperate with the Return to Work Guidelines below.
10. Do not treat this accident policy lightly. Violations can lead to discipline, up to and including termination.

B. Return to Work Guidelines.

To encourage the prompt and safe return of injured employees to some form of employment, the Company will make every effort to provide restricted duty work for employees on workers' compensation. The work provided will accommodate the employee's medical restrictions and physician's instructions, which may include work for less than forty (40) hours per week and/or a change in duties to less strenuous tasks. Restricted or light duty work may be paid at a different wage than your regular assignment. The Company realizes that not every injured employee will be a candidate for a restricted or light duty job, and each case will be individually analyzed.

1. You must inform the Company immediately when you are released to restricted or light duty work or when you are released to work with no restrictions. You must present the release to your supervisor or the human resources department.
2. If the Company has restricted or light duty work available that accommodates your medical restrictions and physician's instructions, you will be notified of the following:
 - a. A description of the work available;
 - b. The wages to be paid;
 - c. The date and time you must report to work;
 - d. The number of hours you are to work per day and the number of days per week; and
 - e. Which supervisor you are to report to.
3. After you are released by your physician to do restricted or light duty work, you must contact the Company every work day to determine if restricted or light duty work is available for you to do. You may be required to perform duties outside your normally assigned duties.

4. Please remember that even though you are on workers' compensation, you still must follow Company policies and practices, including attendance and tardiness. Failure to call or show up may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination.
5. If you are on workers' compensation restricted duty, you may not perform any tasks that do not comply with your physician's instructions or restrictions. You must not place yourself or your co-workers at risk by performing tasks that you have not yet been released to perform.

If you refuse restricted or light duty work that accommodated your medical restrictions, including failing to call or come to work when restricted or light duty work is available, you may be denied compensation through workers' compensation insurance program.

EMPLOYMENT OF MINORS

The General Manager in each Store is responsible for monitoring the hours and meal periods/breaks of the minors working in their individual Stores and ensuring that all applicable state and federal laws are followed.

Minors will not be permitted to work unless they are legally able to do so under all applicable state and federal laws. The Company does not allow employment of minors under the age of sixteen (16) (eighteen (18) if alcohol sales are involved).

A minor may only be permitted to work in accordance with the terms, restrictions and limitations set forth in the work permit if one is required. In any case, where a difference exists between the standards set forth in the work permit and the rules established by federal and state laws, the strictest standard shall apply. Therefore, a minor may not be allowed to work in violation of any legal standard, whether the standard is incorporated in a work permit, a state or a federal law. If confronted with violations of the law, or if at any time you are asked to work outside of the parameters of their work permit, the employed Minor understands that they are required to immediately report such violations to the manager in charge, the next level of management or the Human Resources Director.

Failure to follow all company policies, practices and procedures as required may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment.

COMPUTERS AND COMMUNICATION SYSTEMS

The Company's computers, the network, computer applications, and phone systems are Company property, and their purpose is to facilitate Company business. The Company's computer system may not be used for any business other than the Company. The Company's computers and communications systems are for business use only and are not be used to conduct personal business. The use of the Company's systems for personal communications is prohibited. Employees are also prohibited from the display or transmission of content that may reasonably be considered offensive or disruptive to any employee including, but not limited to religious or political causes, sexually explicit images or messages, racial or ethnic slurs or epithets, gender specific comments or any comment that would offend someone on the basis of his/her age, sexual orientation, national origin, disability or anything else which could be construed as harassing or disparaging of others. The sending of inappropriate images or offensive materials to fellow employees as well as disciplining employees via text or voicemail are all examples of inappropriate uses of electronic messaging and are strictly prohibited.

B. ACCESS TO COMPANY'S COMPUTERS AND COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEMS AND PASSWORD PROTECTION.

Only Company personnel are permitted general access to the Company's computer network and its application, including electronic communications, as needed. If you have a specific need for a third party to use any Company computer on our premises, special arrangements must be made with your Supervisor.

If you have a password, you should not divulge your password to others. If you are a remote user, you should take care to safeguard your remote user access card and not divulge the Company's modem telephone numbers, IP addresses or any other form of connection to the Company's network system.

It is against Company policy for any employee to access e-mail or voicemail communications of others without a business purpose. Other than routine access for system maintenance and operational needs of the business, requests for access to, or disclosure of, the contents of such communications must be approved by your supervisor.

C. SOCIAL MEDIA.

While the Company understands that some employees may maintain or create personal Web logs or "blogs," or social networking profiles on sites such as Facebook, Twitter, Google+, or LinkedIn, you should be mindful of what you post. You are responsible for anything that you post on social media. Even when you delete a post, it can be stored online forever. Think about the possible effects of your post before posting.

1. Employees are prohibited from maintaining or creating social media sites or posts on the employee's working time or using the Company's equipment.

2. Personal blogs and statements made on social networking sites such as Twitter or Facebook contain the views of the individual, not the Company, but readers of the comments may not understand that difference.

3. If you choose to identify yourself as a Company employee in any way on a blog or social networking or similar site, you must include a clear statement that the views expressed on the blog do not necessarily reflect the views of the Company and you are not speaking on behalf of the Company.

This includes when you are posting to your own personal Web log or blog.

2. Use caution in addressing messages to make sure that communications are not inadvertently made to unintended recipients. Should mistakes occur, as with any other similar situation, promptly act to address the problem, including immediately consulting with supervisors as appropriate.

E. GENERAL GUIDELINES FOR USE OF COMPUTERS AND COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEMS.

Please exercise caution in uploading and downloading information on the network to prevent virus infiltration.

Electronic communications, including e-mail or instant messaging, allow Company personnel to communicate among themselves, with clients, and other third parties. Even more than with other modes of communication, such communication options, which permit users to send a message instantaneously to a large number of recipients or groups, can create significant problems if users fail to observe proper precautions and to use good judgment.

E-mail messages may result in a permanent record of your communication. In addition, voicemail can also be saved or forwarded. It is critical to keep the potential permanency of an e-mail or voicemail message in mind in considering its content and tone. In composing an e-mail, instant message, or voicemail message, do not let the opportunity for an instantaneous comment or response cloud your judgment in a situation in which you may later regret what you wrote or said. Attempts at humor can be misinterpreted, and messages intended for one recipient may be forwarded to others who may not understand the context of the message.

F. PROHIBITED USES OF COMPUTERS AND COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEMS.

Under no circumstances should the Company's electronic communication or your own personal blog be used for sending, accessing, posting, receiving, or storing any material of an insensitive, discriminatory or harassing nature, or that is of a threatening, obscene or defamatory nature, for chain letters, or for any other purpose that is illegal, against the Company's policy or contrary to the Company's interests. The Company's electronic communication system should not be used to send, receive or post messages related to any business other than the Company or to transmit copies of documents in violation of copyright laws. Any misuse of electronic communications should be reported promptly to your Supervisor.

G. COMPANY MONITORING OF COMPUTERS AND COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEMS.

The Company's computer network and telephone systems are provided to conduct the Company's business and for the benefit of our customers. The Company does not, as a matter of routine, review or monitor e-mail messages, telephone information or computer-generated documents, business or non-business. However, all such information, including e-mail, instant messages, postings, internet access, downloads or voice messages may be accessed to protect the Company's legitimate business interests.

The Company has the right to inspect, review, and monitor use of its computers, the network, electronic mail, telephone systems, and any other aspect of its electronic systems and may do so in the discretion of management for a variety of reasons. Those reasons can include, by way of example only, a Company need for information when an employee who generally has access is unavailable; a need to locate substantive information that is not more readily available by some other less intrusive means; legitimate customer request for information; auditor request; security or access reviews or audits; request for law enforcement purposes; potential or actual litigation; concern that Company property is being used in an unauthorized manner; and other business needs.

In this regard, it is important to understand that incidental and occasional personal use of the Company's computer network, including e-mail and voicemail, to send, receive, and store information is permitted, but that such information is not treated differently from other information. Thus, if the Company searches or discloses information stored on its computer or telephone system, personal information may be included. Stated differently, employees should be aware that they cannot expect use of the Company's computer network or telephone system to be private. Use of the computer network constitutes employee consent to the Company's right to access and review any information stored on its computers or telephone systems for business-related purposes.

Please also note that the Company may monitor usage patterns for all communications (voice and data), which include access, call length, and time of call, for purposes of cost analysis, business planning, or compliance with Company policy.

H. POSSIBLE DISCIPLINARY ACTION FOR VIOLATION OF POLICY.

As with all other policies in this Handbook, violation of these policies may result in discipline, up to and including termination. The Company further reserves the right to request an employee refrain from commenting on topics related to the Company (or, if necessary, suspend any personal blog altogether), if advisable to comply with any federal, state or local laws. Should you have any questions about these policies and how it may apply to your conduct, please contact your supervisor, Payroll or any Company Officer.

Unauthorized duplication of copyrighted computer software violates the law and is contrary to the Company's standards of conduct. The Company disapproves of such copying and recognize the following principles as a basis for preventing its occurrences:

1. The Company will neither engage in nor tolerate the making or using of unauthorized software copies under any circumstances.
2. The Company will provide legally acquired software to meet the legitimate software needs in a timely fashion and in sufficient quantities for all of the Company's computers.

TAPING/EAVESDROPPING ON CONVERSATIONS AND MONITORING

It is the policy of the Company to encourage open communications among our employees and between employees and management. To facilitate such open communications, and to prevent the chilling effect that may occur if employees are permitted to tape or secretly record or surreptitiously listen in on any conversation or communication, and to ensure compliance with applicable federal, state, and local wiretapping, eavesdropping, and privacy laws, the Company has instituted the following policy:

Without the prior written authorization of the Company's General Manager, no employee may openly or secretly tape or otherwise surreptitiously record, or videotape, any conversation, communication, activity, or event. This prohibition applies to any conversation, communication, activity, or event which in any way involves the Company or employees of the Company or any of our subsidiaries or affiliate companies, or any customers or clients, or any other individual with whom the Company is doing business or intending to do business in any capacity (for example, vendors, suppliers, consultants, attorneys, independent contractors). This policy also applies to conversations and communications with any other third parties unrelated to the Company including, but not limited to, outside legal counsel, auditors and regulatory officials.

"Taping" and "Recording" under this policy includes the taping or recording of any conversation or communication, regardless of whether the conversation or communication is taking place in person, over the telephone, or via any other communications device or equipment, and regardless of the method used to tape or record (e.g., as with a tape recorder, video recorder, mechanical recording, or wiretapping equipment), and regardless of where the conversation or communication takes place, i.e. whether on or off the Company's premises.

"Taping" and "Recording" as used in this policy does not include any lawful taping and recording engaged in by an employee on the employee's own time, with the employee's own equipment, away from the Company's place of business, and which does not involve in any manner whatsoever, directly or indirectly, the business or activities of the Company, or any of its employees.

No employee may eavesdrop on the conversations or communications of other employees or non-employees in accordance with the same standards set forth above.

From time to time the Company may tape, record, videotape, or otherwise monitor conversations or other communications between employees and/or between employees and non-employees for legitimate business purposes, such as customer service training, to protect the integrity of certain business transactions (for example, sale orders taken over the telephone). Generally, employees will be notified that such taping or recording may occur, in accordance with applicable laws and sound employee relations principles. Under certain circumstances, however, notice may not be given, such as where the Company is conducting an investigation into allegedly unlawful or unethical activities, in conjunction with regulatory or other enforcement authorities.

Violations of this policy may result in disciplinary action against the offending employee(s), up to and including termination of employment. Where the conduct engaged in is illegal, violators may also be subject to prosecution under applicable federal, state, or local laws.

If any employee has any questions or concerns regarding whether any contemplated taping or recording would violate this policy, he or she should discuss the matter with the General Manager before engaging in any such activities.

Without a hands-free device, allow any incoming phone calls to go to voice mail until you are safely parked and able to return the call. Failure to comply with this policy is the sole responsibility of the driver. If you have an idea, concern, or suggestion on how to improve safety in the workplace, tell your supervisor, General Manager, or the Company's Executive Office. Please report any concerns about workplace safety anonymously and without fear of reprisal to the Executive Office or your supervisor.

Our goal is to achieve and maintain safe and healthful working conditions. We expect and appreciate your cooperation in helping us to achieve this goal.

Employees are required to become familiar with and understand the Company's safety manual and comply with the Company's policies, practices, and procedures. Employees are required to abide by Company and OSHA safety rules and procedures and are subject to discipline, up to and including termination, for violating safety rules. Employees are required to immediately report any unsafe condition or action to a Supervisor, Human Resources or the General Manager

No matter how safe your working area may be, carelessness or “horseplay” on your part can make you or your coworker a casualty. You should use common sense and know and follow all safety and fire regulations, which will protect you and your fellow employees from inconvenience or serious injury. Employees are responsible for following all safety rules and for using safety equipment furnished by the Company. Your suggestions for safety, as well as suggestions for the improvement of any other phase of our operation, are encouraged at all times.

A violation of a safety precaution is in itself an unsafe act. A violation may lead to disciplinary action, up to and including termination

Keep equipment in its proper place, place refuse in containers, and observe simple rules of tidiness. Report anything that needs repair or replacement to your supervisor.

EMPLOYEE ILLNESS REPORTING AND EXCLUSION POLICY

Employees who come to work when they are obviously sick (vomiting, diarrhea, or jaundice) or have a confirmed reportable illness can easily contaminate food or surfaces. THEY MUST BE SENT HOME. They can also transmit their illness to other employees or customers. This can lead to a foodborne illness outbreaks. Therefore, to prevent the transmission of foodborne illness and to ensure compliance with employee exclusion and reportable illness laws, the Company has developed this Illness Reporting and Exclusion Policy.

This policy applies to all employees who work with food or come in direct contact with food, are responsible for cleaning restaurant equipment, handling and cleaning serving utensils, and/or handling single-service food packaging. All employees should be familiar with and understand this policy before they begin work in any Store.

Employees are responsible to timely report any symptoms to their supervisor. Employees must report the following symptoms, conditions, illness, or high risk conditions to their supervisor.

SYMPTOMS AND CONDITIONS (caused by infection)

- 1) Abdominal Cramps
- 2) Prolonged loss of appetite (more than 3 days)
- 3) Diarrhea
- 4) Fever
- 5) Vomiting
- 6) Yellow skin or eyes (jaundice)
- 7) Sore throat with fever
- 8) Skin sores on the hand, wrist, or an exposed body part (such as boils and infected wounds, however small) which cannot be bandaged and protected
- 9) Acute respiratory infection (cough or runny nose)

MEDICALLY DIAGNOSED ILLNESSES

- 1) Norovirus
- 2) Hepatitis A (or jaundiced (yellow skin or eyes) even if diagnosis has not yet been confirmed)
- 3) Typhoid Fever (Salmonella typhi) or previous diagnosis (within the last 3 months) without medical treatment (antibiotic therapy)
- 4) Salmonellosis (Salmonella spp.)
- 5) E. coli O157:H7 (or other Shiga toxin-producing Escherichia coli/STEC infection)
- 6) Shigellosis (Shigella spp.)
- 7) Any communicable disease which is transmissible through food or is by law reportable (ex. Tuberculosis)

HIGH RISK CONDITIONS

- 1) Exposure to or suspicion of causing any confirmed disease outbreak due to consuming or preparing food implicated in the outbreak or consuming food at an event prepared by a person who is infected or ill with typhoid fever, shigellosis, E. coli O157:H7 infection, or hepatitis A.
- 2) Diagnosis of typhoid fever within the last 3 months without receiving treatment by a licensed health care provider (antibiotic therapy).
- 3) A household member diagnosed with typhoid fever, shigellosis, E. coli O157:H7 infection, or hepatitis A.
- 4) A household member attending or working in a setting experiencing a confirmed outbreak of typhoid fever, shigellosis, E. coli O157:H7 infection, or hepatitis A.

If an employee reports any of these symptoms or conditions they should be sent home immediately and excluded from work. In most cases, employees reporting symptoms on the first list above may return to work after they have been asymptomatic for at least 24 hours or they provide you with documentation from a licensed health practitioner stating they are no longer infectious. Note: Employees experiencing jaundice (yellow skin or eyes) cannot return to work until they are released by the Health Department, as discussed below. .

Certain illnesses are required by law to be reported to the Health Department and are grounds for possible restaurant closure. If the employee is jaundiced or has been diagnosed with one of the illnesses listed in the Medically Diagnosed Illnesses above, contact your management team and QA immediately and follow their directions. QA can assist with Health Department notification. If the employee is still present in the restaurant, send them home immediately. The employee will not be allowed to return to work until they have a physician's release to work with food and have also been released by the Health Department.

In some cases, a supervisor may be informed of a confirmed employee illness by a Health Department Official. If a supervisor is informed that your employee has a confirmed reportable illness the following must be done:

1. If the employee is still present in the restaurant, send them home immediately. Make sure you obtain the following from the Health Department
 - a. The name and telephone number of the health official with whom you spoke
 - b. The exact name of the disease. Ask them to spell it to you if necessary.
 - c. The date they believe the employee was exposed and or became contagious.
 - d. Any other important information like how the employee was exposed, their current status etc

NOTE: Personal medical information is confidential and cannot be shared with other crew members.

2. Contact the QA Department immediately with this information! Follow their directions.
3. Survey the rest of the crew for any other sick employees. Send any employees home which display any symptoms noted by the Health Department
4. Gather documentation for review by the Health Department and the QA Department. This would include:
 - a. Employee roster and work time records. The Health Department may need to figure out who was exposed and who was doing what duties.
 - b. Daily Temperature Tracking Forms (DTTF) and/or recent QA audit / health department inspection reports. These documents can help verify that hand sinks were stocked and supplied with hot water or show overall compliance with food safety requirements. Since hand washing is the most important way to prevent the spread of disease, both the Health Department and the QA Department will need to see them.

5. Stay calm. Do not argue if the Health Department orders you to close. Contact your Management Team immediately. Possible disease transmission is an extremely delicate situation and you are not a medically trained professional. If all the Company's QA food safety procedures were being followed, you have very little to worry about. Expect a health inspector and/or other public health official to visit your restaurant. They will be trying to determine the risk to the public (risk assessment) so they will know whether a public notice is required. In some jurisdictions, just the presence of a confirmed case is grounds for a public notice. However, if your restaurant checks out well during the inspection, this will be reflected in their report.
6. If you were closed by the Health Department, obtain written permission to reopen. Also, obtain a written clearance from a licensed physician before allowing any ill employee to return to work. All documentation must be immediately forwarded to the QA Department.

The above noted situations are the more common situations faced by restaurants. It is not an inclusive list of all possible scenarios. If you are faced with a situation you are not sure what to do, contact the QA Department immediately.

Note: if an employee is obviously sick or has a confirmed reportable disease, do not allow them to work. They cannot work in the restaurant until they are healthy.

Important Points:

1. Stress the importance of good personal hygiene in every aspect of your restaurant's operation.
2. NEVER be afraid to send employees home if they claim they are ill or show symptoms of illness.
3. NEVER allow employees with skin infections or open wounds to handle food, unless they are wearing gloves.
4. NEVER admit liability when handling guest illnesses.
5. NEVER say this type of injury, accident or illness has occurred before.
6. NEVER tell the guest that the company will take care of medical expenses.

Only Salaried Exempt Management Employees are eligible for Paid Time Off ("PTO") Paid Time Off begins to accrue on January 1 each year and must be used by December 31 of each year. Unused PTO will not roll over to the next calendar year. PTO can be used for vacation, illness, medical appointments, school activities, or any other needs that require time off from work.

Salaried Exempt Management Employees will be provided with 13 working days of PTO annually on a prorated basis. PTO is awarded on a weekly basis at the rate of 0.25 days per week. An eligible employee who is hired mid-year will be granted PTO based on the date of hire.

Employees must schedule PTO time in advance by completing a Time Off Request Form and submitting it to their supervisor for approval. When possible, PTO periods will be assigned in accordance with employee's requests, taking operational requirements into account. The supervisor will make time available for employees to take PTO within the calendar year if their requested time is not available. The Company reserves the right to deny PTO Requests for more than 5 consecutive or PTO Requests for more than 5 days in one 28 day period.

Holidays that fall within an employee's scheduled PTO period will be charged against PTO time.

PTO time generally must be taken in whole day increments, with the exception of intermittent FMLA leave.

If employees are unable to use their PTO within the calendar year due to business needs, employees will be paid for the accrued but unused PTO after December 31 of each year. Employees will be paid for unused PTO upon separation of employment.

VOTING

The Company believes that each employee should have the opportunity to exercise his or her right to vote in a state, primary, general, or special election. The Company will provide up to three (3) hours unpaid time off for voting if the employee does not have three continuous hours off work while the polls are open. More time may be provided if required by state law (contact Human Resources for more information on state laws).

Employees should provide two days' advance notice prior to the Election Day if they need time off to vote.

JURY DUTY

The Company believes that jury duty constitutes a civic responsibility. While we cannot pay hourly or non-exempt employees for the time they spend on jury duty, the Company will keep your job open until this duty is fulfilled. Employees who are summoned for jury duty are expected to return to their job if they are excused from jury duty during regular working hours.

The Company complies with all applicable federal or state laws regarding employee's service as jurors. Employees must show the jury duty summons to their supervisor as soon as possible to allow the supervisor to accommodate their absence from the workplace.

SCHOOL ACTIVITY LEAVE

Employees with minor children will be permitted a reasonable amount of leave, not to exceed 40 hours per year, without pay to attend school conferences or classroom activities relating to their children if they are not able to schedule the activity outside of work hours. The amount of leave will be determined by the General Manager in compliance with any applicable state laws.

CRIME VICTIM LEAVE OF ABSENCE

The Company will grant leaves of absence to employees as required by law for victims of crime if the leave does not create an undue hardship on the Company's business. An employee is eligible for victim leave and the job protection afforded under the law if he or she is a "victim" of a crime. The term "victim" includes the immediate family or a lawful representative of a person who has been killed or incapacitated.

Employees covered by the law are entitled to attend all court proceedings involving the perpetrators of their crimes, including any trials, and preliminary and post-trial hearings. The Company will provide the employee time off to attend these proceedings but the employee must use any accrued paid vacation, personal, or sick leave during the employee's leave of absence.

The employee's leave bank will be deducted for the time that you are absent from work. Once your accrued leave has been used, any further leave will be unpaid.

Prior to taking victim leave, the employee must furnish the Company with the following information.

1. A copy of the notice received from law enforcement or the prosecutor regarding your status as a crime victim and your rights.
2. If applicable, a copy of the notice of each scheduled proceeding.

Under the law, the prosecutor or law enforcement officer is responsible for providing you information regarding your rights under the law, and your responsibility is to provide the Company with a copy of the notice. Records regarding any victim leave will be kept confidential by the Company.

PERSONAL DISCRETIONARY LEAVE OF ABSENCE

The Company, in its sole discretion, reserves the right to grant an unpaid personal discretionary leave of absence. An employee who wishes to take an unpaid personal discretionary leave of absence must submit the request in writing to their supervisor at least two weeks in advance of the leave. Granting a personal discretionary unpaid leave of absence is discretionary with the Company.

Failure to return to work upon expiration of leave of any absence shall be considered a resignation.

MILITARY LEAVE OF ABSENCE

The Company will grant military leaves of absence as required by law. Employees may take an unpaid leave of absence to perform military training and/or service, whether the service is voluntary or involuntary, as part of the active and reserve components of the Armed Forces, the Army and Air National Guard, the Commissioned Corps of the Public Health Service, and any other category of persons so designated by the Company Officers in time of war or emergency. The duration of other military leave will be the term of the enlistment, plus any additional time that may be required by the government. The Company generally will provide a reasonable allowance of time for travel and adjustment before the employee returns to work. A member of the U.S. Armed Services or National Guard will be granted a two (2) week unpaid leave of absence once a year when called for active duty training.

In order to be eligible for any reinstatement rights under federal law, any employee taking leave from work to serve in the military, including the National Guard, must: (1) provide the Company with as much advance notice of their service as possible; (2) ensure that the cumulative length of the service does not exceed five years; (3) have been honorably discharged; and (4) report to or submit an application for re-employment, as required by federal law upon return from service.

A. NOTICE

You must provide notice (unless impossible, unreasonable, or precluded by military necessity) to the Company of leaves of absence for military service. Notice may be oral or written. Failure to provide notice to the Company may result in a denial of protection under this policy or federal law.

When a military leave of absence extends for more than 30 days, the Company may request official written military orders to establish your eligibility for leave and the related protections under federal law.

B. FIVE-YEAR CUMULATIVE SERVICE LIMIT

Regardless of whether your military duty is voluntary or involuntary, federal law places a five-year cumulative service limit on the amount of military leave you can use and still retain re-employment rights. Exemptions from the five-year re-employment limit include: required active duty during a domestic emergency, national security related situations, critical or operational missions, and war. If you have received more than five years of military leave and request re-employment with the Company, the Company may verify the your eligibility for re-employment.

C. ACCRUED LEAVE

You may elect to use any personal vacation, annual leave, or other similar accrued pay for a period of military service. The Company does not require you to use these accrued benefits.

D. RE-EMPLOYMENT AFTER MILITARY LEAVE OF ABSENCE

1. Procedure.

For periods of military service lasting 1 to 30 days, you must report back to work for the next regularly scheduled shift on the day following release from the military, allowing for safe travel home and eight hours of rest.

For periods of military service lasting 31 to 180 days, you must apply for re-employment within 14 days following release. Application may be written or oral.

For periods of military service lasting 181 days or more, you must apply for re-employment within 90 days following release. Application may be written or oral.

Immediate reinstatement is not mandated but the Company will promptly re-employ returning service members. Promptness is determined on a case-by-case basis depending on your particular circumstances. The Company may request documentation from the employee to establish that the application for reemployment is timely. Untimely applications may be denied.

2. Position.

The Company will re-employ a returning worker in a position they would have attained had it not been for the military service, at a level of seniority, status, pay, and any other rights and benefits commensurate with the seniority. If necessary, the Company will provide training or retraining to qualify the employee for re-employment. When an employee is disabled while on military duty, or if a disability is aggravated by military service, the Company will make reasonable efforts to accommodate the disability, as required by federal law.

3. Exceptions to re-employment.

The Company is not required to re-employ an employee if: (1) re-employment is impossible or unreasonable; (2) a disability incurred during the military leave would cause the employer undue hardship to accommodate; or (3) the employee worked in a temporary position before military service.

4. Limited protection from termination.

If an employee's period of military service was 181 days or more, the employee is protected from discharge, except for cause, for one year. If the employee served between 31 and 180 days, the employee is protected from discharge, except for cause, for 180 days.

This is an exception to the Company's specific at-will policy contained in this Handbook because the limited protection from termination is mandated by federal law.

Cause to terminate employment of an employee includes, but is not limited to, theft or embezzlement from Company or any affiliate; any willful breach of duty, habitual neglect of duty, or continued incapacity; engaging in activity or action that adversely reflects upon the Company; violation of any corporate policy, practice or procedure or employment policy or procedure or any written directives of the Company; fraud directed at Company, any affiliate or any individual or entity that provides goods or services to, receives goods or services from or otherwise deals with Company or any affiliate; or any material acts or events which inhibit the employee from fully performing employee's responsibilities to the Company in good faith or that reflect upon the Company's reputation, such as (A) an arrest for a felony charge or a felony criminal conviction; (B) any other criminal conviction involving the employee's lack of honesty or the employee's moral turpitude; (C) current drug or alcohol abuse; or (D) acts of dishonesty, gross carelessness or gross misconduct; or if application of the reinstatement requirements of federal law results in a legitimate layoff or in the elimination of the job position itself, provided the employee would have faced the same consequences had he or she remained continuously employed. Cause may also include layoffs for financial reasons.

E. BENEFITS

The Company will provide workers on military leave benefits equivalent to those offered during other types of leaves of absence, as determined by the Company's leave policies contained in this Handbook. This means that employees on military leave will remain eligible for any rights and benefits (not based on seniority) that are available to employees on non-military leaves of absence (whether paid or unpaid). An employee returning from military service will receive the most favorable treatment as outlined in the Company's leave policies. Additionally, returning employees are entitled to all non-seniority rights and benefits that became effective during the military leave period.

The Company may require employees on military leave to pay the regular employee cost, if any, of any benefit under the same practice applicable to other employees on leave of absence.

1. Group Health Coverage

Federal law prescribes health care continuation rules substantially similar to COBRA. Federal law allows an employee called for military service to elect to continue employer-provided health insurance for a period up to the first 18 months of that service.

If your period of service is 1 to 30 days, the Company will not require you to pay more than the regular employee cost, if any, for the coverage.

If your period of service exceeds 30 days, you will not be required to pay more than 102 percent of the total premium (i.e., the COBRA premium amount) to continue your health care coverage.

In all events, returning employees will be entitled to immediate reinstatement of health insurance for themselves, as well as any previously covered dependents, with no waiting period or exclusion of preexisting conditions (except government determined service-related health conditions).

2. COBRA

Termination of group health coverage due to a military leave of absence is a COBRA qualifying event. Even if an employee does not return to work after military service, continued health coverage must be available for the remainder of the COBRA period. Health care coverage that is available during military leave (i.e. CHAMPUS) is not considered to be group health coverage, and therefore an employee does not forfeit COBRA rights by reason of such coverage.

FAMILY AND MEDICAL LEAVE OF ABSENCE POLICY

A. INTRODUCTION: The Company realizes that employees occasionally need to take time away from work to care for important family and medical needs. This policy is designed to meet those needs in a manner that is beneficial to employees, their families, and the Company. It also represents the intent of the Company to comply with the requirements and purposes of the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 ("FMLA").

B. REASON FOR LEAVE: Eligible employees may be entitled to take a leave of absence for the following reasons:

- the birth of a child or an incapacity due to pregnancy or prenatal care, or the placement in your home of a child for adoption or for foster care ("NEW CHILD LEAVE");
- the need to care for your spouse, son, daughter, or parent who has a serious health condition ("FAMILY MEDICAL LEAVE");
- a serious health condition that prohibits you from performing essential functions of your employment position ("EMPLOYEE MEDICAL LEAVE");

- because of any qualifying exigency arising out of the fact that your spouse, son, daughter, or parent is a covered servicemember on active duty or has been notified of a call to active duty or is a covered servicemember in the Guard or Reserves called to active duty in support of a contingency operation (“MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER EXIGENCY FAMILY LEAVE”); or
- the need to care for your spouse, son, daughter, parent, or next of kin (nearest blood relative) who is a covered member of the United States Armed Forces (including the National Guard or Reserves) or a covered veteran who is undergoing medical treatment, recuperation, or therapy for a serious injury or illness incurred or aggravated in the line of duty while on active duty (“MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER CAREGIVER LEAVE”).
- Requests for leaves of absence in situations other than those governed by the FMLA, such as military, educational, personal, and so forth, are not addressed in this Policy.

C. ELIGIBILITY: To be eligible for a leave of absence under this Policy, you must have:

- been employed by the Company for at least 12 months;
- worked at least 1,250 hours during the previous 12 months (hours spent performing military service on military leave count towards the 1,250);
- work at a facility employing at least 50 employees within a 75 mile radius; and
- qualified to receive a FMLA leave as provided in B above.

If you have a break in service to the Company of seven (7) years or more, you must be reemployed at the Company for at least 12 months before you are eligible for FMLA leave.

D. AMOUNTS OF LEAVE: If you are an eligible employee, you may take up to twelve (12) weeks of leave during a 12-month period for qualifying situations. A request for a leave of absence generally will not be approved if you have already used 12 weeks of leave under this policy during the twelve (12) months preceding the date you requested to begin your leave (rolling 12 months). Different rules may apply when both spouses work for the same Company. Please consult Payroll or any Company Officer if this applies to your situation.

If you are an eligible employee who is caring for a covered service member wounded in the line of duty (MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER CAREGIVER LEAVE), you may be eligible for a total of up to twenty-six (26) weeks of leave during a 12-month period to provide care for the covered service member. If you use FMLA leave for any other purpose and also use MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER CAREGIVER LEAVE, the combined leave may total twenty-six (26) weeks. The 12-month period for purposes of MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER CAREGIVER LEAVE begins on the first day of your MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER CAREGIVER LEAVE and extends 12 months beyond that date. You are eligible for only one period of MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER CAREGIVER LEAVE for each covered family member for each injury.

- E. COMPENSATION DURING LEAVE: Leaves of absence under this Policy are generally without pay. If you take a leave under this policy, you must use all of your available accrued vacation and unused paid sick and personal days as part of that leave. Regardless of whether you receive vacation, personal, or sick pay during the leave, the full amount of leave time will be counted toward the 12-week maximum (26-week if using MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER CAREGIVER LEAVE) FMLA leave available in a 12-month period.
- F. HEALTH INSURANCE DURING LEAVE: During any leave under this Policy, you will continue to be covered by the Company's group health insurance plan so long as you satisfy the requirements of this Policy and the insurance plan.
1. YOU PAY YOUR PORTION: During a leave, you are responsible to pay your portion of the insurance premium as though you continued in active employment. All premiums should be submitted to the Payroll Department. You may pay for your share of the premium before you take the leave, and you are required to pay it no later than 30 days after it would be due if you were actively employed.
 2. NOT RETURNING TO EMPLOYMENT: Coverage may stop if the Company learns and verifies that you do not intend to return to your employment or if you do not return to your employment. In these cases, the Company may request you to reimburse it for any premiums it has paid on your behalf during the leave unless the reason you did not return was because of a continued serious health condition or for other reasons beyond your control as identified in the FMLA.
 3. FAILURE TO COMPLY: If you fail to comply with these requirements, including paying your portion of the insurance premium, your insurance coverage may lapse.
- G. NOTIFYING THE COMPANY
1. FORESEEABLE EVENTS: The Company requests you to complete and submit the attached Application Form at least 30 days in advance of foreseeable leaves, such as leaves for planned medical treatment or for your child's birth.
 2. UNFORESEEABLE EVENTS: For unforeseen events, such as accidental injury causing a serious health condition, premature birth, or a sudden change in your health, the Company requests you to notify it of your need for leave as soon as it is possible and practical to do so (preferably by submitting the Application, but at least orally). You must follow the Company's normal call-in procedures to report your absence when it is possible to do so, in addition to submitting the FMLA leave paperwork. You can generally notify the Company of an unforeseen leave within one or two business days of when you find out you will need the leave. For unforeseeable leaves, the Company requests that you submit the Application Form as soon as practicable even if you have provided oral notification.

3. FAILURE TO COMPLY: Failure to follow these practices may result in delay or denial of your leave. In the case of foreseeable leaves, the Company may delay your leave for up to 30 days from the date you notify the Company of your need to take a leave of absence.

H. CERTIFICATION OF SERIOUS HEALTH CONDITION: If you are requesting a FAMILY MEDICAL LEAVE, EMPLOYEE MEDICAL LEAVE, or MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER CAREGIVER LEAVE you must provide a Certification of Physician or Practitioner (a copy of which is attached to this Policy) to verify the serious health condition causing the need for a leave of absence. The certification forms are available in Payroll. The Certification must be completed by a qualified health care provider. If you have a question about who is qualified as a health care provider, please contact Payroll.

1. DEFINITION OF SERIOUS HEALTH CONDITION: FMLA leave will not be granted for a health condition unless it is for an illness, injury, impairment, physical or mental condition that involves one or more of the following:

- in-patient care,
- a period of incapacity requiring more than three calendar days of absence from work or similar daily activities, and continuing treatment by a health care provider, generally requiring at least two in-person visits to a health care practitioner or one in-person visit and a regimen of continuing treatment.
- a chronic or long-term condition that is so serious that if it were not treated it would result in more than three calendar days of absence and you receive continuing treatment by health care provider, or
- prenatal care.

2. DEFINITION OF SERIOUS ILLNESS OR INJURY FOR MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER CAREGIVER LEAVE. FMLA leave will not be granted for a service member's medical condition unless it is for a serious illness or injury. For an active member of the Armed Forces, Guard, or Reserve, a serious illness or injury means an injury or illness:

- incurred or aggravated in the line of duty on active duty in the Armed Forces;
- renders the service member medically unfit to perform the duties of the member's office, grade, rank, or rating;
- requires medical treatment, recuperation, therapy, outpatient treatment or causes the service member to be placed on a temporary disability retired list.

In the case of a veteran discharged within the five years prior to the date of the leave, a serious illness or injury is an illness or injury that manifested itself before or after the service member became a veteran and is:

- a continuation of a serious illness or injury that was incurred or aggravated in the line of duty on active duty and rendered the service member medically unfit to perform the duties of the member's office, grade, rank, or rating; or
- a physical or mental condition for which the covered veteran has received a U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs Service-Related Disability Rating (VASRD) of 50 percent or greater, and such VASRD rating is based, in whole or in part, on the condition precipitating the need for military caregiver leave; or
- a physical or mental condition that substantially impairs the covered veteran's ability to secure or follow a substantially gainful occupation by reason of a disability or disabilities related to military service, or would do so absent treatment; or
- an injury, including a psychological injury, on the basis of which the covered veteran has been enrolled in the Department of Veterans Affairs Program of Comprehensive Assistance for Family Caregivers.

3. TIMING OF CERTIFICATION: The Company requests that you submit the Certification with your Application Form for a leave of absence. In no event should the Certification be submitted later than 15 days following your request for a leave. Except for MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER CAREGIVER LEAVE, when the certification is provided by a military or military-contracted physician, after you turn in the Certification from your health care provider, the Company may still request you to see another health care provider at its expense (and possibly a third one, if the first two medical opinions are inconsistent). The Company reserves the right to request periodical additional Certification during the term of a leave of absence.

For MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER CAREGIVER LEAVE, if the Certification is completed by a health care professional with the Veteran Affairs Department or Department of Defense or a provider approved by one of those agencies the Company may not seek a second or third opinion. If it is completed by a private health care provider, the Company may still request you to see another health care provider at its expense (and possibly a third one, if the first two medical opinions are inconsistent).

4. INABILITY TO PERFORM JOB IS REQUIREMENT FOR EMPLOYEE MEDICAL LEAVE: You may qualify for an EMPLOYEE MEDICAL LEAVE only if the Medical Certification states that you are not able to perform the essential functions of your employment position.
5. MEDICAL NECESSITY FOR FAMILY MEDICAL LEAVE: You may qualify for a FAMILY MEDICAL LEAVE only if the Certification states that you are needed to care for your family member.

6. FAILURE TO COMPLY: If you fail to follow these guidelines or if you falsify any information related to the Medical Certification, your leave may be delayed or denied and discipline, up to and including discharge, may result.

- I. NOTICE AND CERTIFICATION REQUIRED FOR MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER EXIGENCY FAMILY LEAVE. If you are requesting a MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER EXIGENCY FAMILY LEAVE, you must provide a certification that a qualifying family member is on active duty or has been called to active duty in the United States Armed Forces and must provide a description of the qualifying exigency. Acceptable certification includes copies of orders to active duties and notices (including newspaper announcements or military base announcements) relating to the qualifying exigency or letters from third parties with whom you meet as part of the qualifying exigency.

You must provide as much advance notice of the need for MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER EXIGENCY FAMILY LEAVE as is reasonable and practicable under the circumstances requiring the leave.

Qualifying exigencies may include attending certain military events, arranging for alternative childcare, addressing financial and legal arrangements, attending certain counseling sessions, and attending post-deployment reintegration briefings. A qualifying exigency must arise from a servicemember's call to duty.

- J. COMPANY'S RESPONSIBILITIES. The Company will inform you after you submit the proper documentation and certifications whether you are eligible for leave under this policy. If you are not eligible, the Company will provide the reason(s) for your ineligibility. The Company will inform you when it is designating your leave as FMLA and the amount of leave being counted against your FMLA entitlement.
- K. RETURN TO WORK AFTER EMPLOYEE MEDICAL LEAVE: When you return from an EMPLOYEE MEDICAL LEAVE you must provide certification that you are able to resume working. Prior to returning to work, you should contact Payroll to submit your medical clearance to return to work and to determine when you should report for duty. Failure to follow these procedures may result in delay when you are ready to come back to work or discipline, up to and including termination.
- L. RESTRICTIONS ON NEW CHILD LEAVE: NEW CHILD LEAVE must be taken within twelve months of the child's birth or placement. NEW CHILD LEAVE must be taken at one time unless you have made special arrangements with the Company to take the leave in a different manner, which must be verified in writing and signed by a Company officer. If both husband and wife work for the Company, they will be entitled to a total of twelve (12) weeks combined rather than twelve (12) weeks each.
- M. INTERMITTENT OR REDUCED SCHEDULE LEAVE: If and only if it is medically necessary, FAMILY MEDICAL LEAVE, EMPLOYEE MEDICAL LEAVE, OR MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER CAREGIVER LEAVE may be taken on an intermittent or reduced schedule basis. MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER EXIGENCY FAMILY LEAVE may also be taken on an intermittent basis. Intermittent or reduced schedule leave will be counted on an hour-by-hour basis to apply toward the maximum leave per 12 months. Any missed mandatory overtime will be counted on an hour-by-hour basis toward the maximum leave per 12 months

1. ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS: As noted on the attached Application Form, you must explain the medical reason for an intermittent or reduced schedule leave and you must support your reason with the appropriate medical Certification. Furthermore, you must inform the Company about your anticipated treatment schedule and the reasons for your proposed schedule. You must make reasonable attempts to schedule leave for planned treatments so as to not unduly disrupt the Company's operations.
 2. ALTERNATIVE POSITION OR SCHEDULE: The Company may require you to work in a different position or on a different schedule during the period of an intermittent or reduced schedule leave that will better accommodate the necessities of your schedule. The alternative position will have the same pay and benefits as the position you held prior to the commencement of the leave.
- N. REQUIREMENT TO MINIMIZE DISRUPTION FOR PLANNED MEDICAL TREATMENTS: For all leaves involving planned medical treatments, including intermittent and reduced schedule leaves, you are obligated to plan for treatments so that they will cause the least disruption to the Company's operations. Your earliest possible notice to the Company and your flexibility in scheduling will assist to make certain that minimal disruption occurs.
- O. RESTORATION OF SAME OR EQUIVALENT POSITION: When you return from an FMLA leave under this Policy, you will be returned to the same or an equivalent position unless you have been notified prior to your leave request that you are a "key employee." You will not lose any seniority or benefits because of your leave, although you will not accrue any additional vacation, sick days, or other benefits during the period of the leave.
- P. If your FMLA leave exceeds 12 weeks within a 12-month period (26 weeks for MILITARY SERVICEMEMBER CAREGIVER LEAVE), you will not be guaranteed a job upon return from the leave, unless otherwise required by law. Use of an FMLA leave shall not insulate you from: (1) disciplinary actions based on conduct that occurred prior to going on leave; or (2) transfer among positions if such transfer was planned prior to your requesting FMLA leave and is not based on the fact that a leave was planned. If you fail to return to work at the end of an FMLA leave, you will be considered to have voluntarily terminated your employment.
- Q. COMPANY'S FMLA COMPLIANCE. The Company intends for this policy to comply with the FMLA. The FMLA makes it unlawful to interfere with, restrain or deny the exercise of any right provided by the FMLA or to discharge or discriminate against any person for opposing a practice made unlawful by the FMLA or participating in an FMLA-related proceeding. The FMLA operates in conjunction with other state and federal laws and does not supersede such laws. If you believe the Company is not following the FMLA or this policy, you should immediately report this to the Human Resources Department. You have the right to file a complaint with the Department of Labor or file a private lawsuit if you believe the Company has violated the FMLA. The Company intends to fully comply with the FMLA, so please talk to us if you have any issues.

COBRA

Continuation of Group Health Coverage Notice

To All Employees, Spouses and Families

A federal law, the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985 ("COBRA") requires that most employers sponsoring group health plans offer employees and their families the opportunity for a temporary extension of health coverage (called "continuation coverage") at group rates in certain instances where coverage under the plan would otherwise end. This notice is intended to inform you, in a summary fashion, of your rights under the continuation coverage provisions of the law, when continuation of coverage may become available to you and your family, and what you need to do to protect your right to receive it. Both you and your spouse should take the time to read this notice carefully. For additional information about your rights and obligations under the Company's Group Health Plan and federal law, you should refer to the Summary Plan Description or contact the Plan Administrator.

If you are an employee of the Company covered by its Group Health Plan, you have a right to choose this continuation coverage if you lose your group health coverage due to a reduction in your hours of employment or the termination of your employment (for reasons other than gross misconduct on your part).

If you are the covered spouse of an employee, you have the right to choose continuation coverage for yourself if you lose group health coverage for any of the following four reasons: (1) the death of your spouse; (2) the termination of your spouse's employment (for reasons other than gross misconduct) or a reduction in your spouse's hours of employment; (3) divorce or legal separation from your spouse; or (4) your spouse becomes entitled to Medicare, under Part A, Part B or both.

In the case of a covered dependent child of an employee, he or she has the right to continuation coverage if group health coverage is lost for any of the following five reasons: (1) the death of a parent; (2) the termination of a parent's employment (for reasons other than gross misconduct) or a reduction in a parent's hours of employment; (3) parents' divorce or legal separation; (4) a parent becomes entitled to Medicare, under Part A, Part B or both; or (5) the dependent ceases to be a "dependent child" under the terms of the contract.

You may also have a right to elect continuation coverage if you are covered under the plan as a retiree or spouse or child of a retiree, and lose coverage within one year before or after the commencement of proceedings under Title 11 (bankruptcy), United States Code by the employer and the bankruptcy results in a loss of coverage under the Group Health Plan.

The Plan will offer COBRA continuation coverage to qualified beneficiaries only after being informed that a qualifying event has occurred. When the qualifying event is the termination of employment, reduction in hours, death of employee, commencement of bankruptcy or the employee's becoming entitled to Medicare benefits, the Company will notify the Plan Administrator of the qualifying event.

Under the law, the employee or a family member has the responsibility to inform the Plan Administrator of a divorce, legal separation, or a child losing dependent status under the plan. This notification must be made within 60 days of the date of the qualifying event which would cause a loss of coverage.

The notice must be in writing, and should be sent to the Plan Administrator or contact Human Resources for more information on the current carrier and reporting requirements.

When the Company is notified the one of these events has happened, it will in turn notify you that you have the right to choose continuation coverage. Under the law, you have at least 60 days from the date you would lose coverage because of one of the events described above to elect continuation coverage. If and when you make this election, coverage will become effective on the day after coverage would otherwise be terminated. Each qualified beneficiary will have an independent right to elect COBRA continuation coverage. Covered employees may elect coverage on behalf of their spouses, and parents may elect coverage on behalf of their children.

If you do not choose continuation coverage, your group health insurance coverage will terminate in accordance with the provisions outlined in your booklet/certificate. If you chose continuation coverage, your coverage will be identical to the coverage provided under the plan to similarly situated employees or family members. The law requires that you be afforded the opportunity to maintain continuation coverage for three years unless you lost group health coverage because of a termination of employment or reduction in hours.

COBRA continuation coverage is a temporary continuation of coverage. When the qualifying event is the death of the employee, the employee's becoming entitled to Medicare benefits (under Part A, Part B, or both), your divorce or legal separation, or a dependent child's losing eligibility as a dependent child, COBRA continuation coverage lasts for up to a total of 36 months. When the qualifying event is the end of employment or reduction of the employee's hours of employment, and the employee became entitled to Medicare benefits less than 18 months before the qualifying event, COBRA continuation coverage for qualified beneficiaries other than the employee lasts until 36 months after the date of Medicare entitlement. For example, if a covered employee becomes entitled to Medicare 8 months before the date on which his employment terminates, COBRA continuation coverage for his spouse and children can last up to 36 months after the date of Medicare entitlement, which is equal to 28 months after the date of the qualifying event (36 months minus 8 months). Otherwise, when the qualifying event is the end of employment or reduction of the employee's hours of employment, COBRA continuation coverage generally lasts for only up to a total of 18 months. There are two ways in which this 18-month period of COBRA continuation coverage can be extended.

If you or anyone in your family covered under the Plan is determined by the Social Security Administration to be disabled and you notify the Plan Administrator in a timely fashion, you and your entire family may be entitled to receive up to an additional 11 months of COBRA continuation coverage, for a total maximum of 29 months. The disability would have to have started at some time before the 60th day of COBRA continuation coverage and must last at least until the end of the 18-month period of continuation coverage. [Add description of any additional Plan procedures for this notice, including a description of any required information or documentation, the name of the appropriate party to whom notice must be sent, and the time period for giving notice.]

If your family experiences another qualifying event while receiving 18 months of COBRA continuation coverage, the spouse and dependent children in your family can get up to 18 additional months of COBRA continuation coverage, for a maximum of 36 months, if notice of the second qualifying event is properly given to the Plan. This extension may be available to the spouse and any dependent children receiving continuation coverage if the employee or former employee dies, becomes entitled to Medicare benefits (under Part A, Part B, or both), or gets divorced or legally separated, or if the dependent child stops being eligible under the Plan as a dependent child, but only if the event would have caused the spouse or dependent child to lose coverage under the Plan had the first qualifying event not occurred.

You do not have to show that you are insurable to choose continuation coverage. However, you have to pay all of the premium plus a 2% administrative fee for your continuation coverage. (The law also says that, at the end of the 18-month or 36-month continuation coverage period, you must be allowed to enroll in an individual conversion health plan provided under the current group health plan, if the plan provides a conversion privilege.)

Questions concerning your Plan or your COBRA continuation coverage rights should be addressed to the contact or contacts identified below. For more information about your rights under ERISA, including COBRA, the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA), and other laws affecting group health plans, contact the nearest Regional or District Office of the U.S. Department of Labor's Employee Benefits Security Administration (EBSA) in your area or visit the EBSA website at www.dol.gov/ebsa. (Addresses and phone numbers of Regional and District EBSA Offices are available through EBSA's website.)

If you have any questions about this, please contact the person or office shown below. In order to protect your family's rights, you should keep the Plan Administrator informed of any changes in the addresses of family members. If any change occurs, please notify, in writing, the following person or office:

Starcorp, LLC
5210 S. Priest, Suite 3
Guadalupe, AZ 85283

If any covered child is at a different address, please notify the Company and the Plan Administrator in writing, so that a separate notice may be sent. You should also keep a copy, for your records, of any notices you send to the Plan Administrator.

MANAGEMENT OPERATIONS

KEY POLICY

Each Store will maintain one “Store set” of keys. No one except the Manager is allowed to maintain a “personal set” of keys. Only the openers (Shift Manager or above) may be issued an opening key (entry door). Each night the “Store set” of keys will be left in the Store by the closer (Shift Manager or above). This procedure will secure the keys while the Store is closed and the opener will have access to the keys by opening the store the next morning. Extra keys may NOT be kept in the Store. All excess or extra keys must be turned into the Chief Operating Officer.

No one below the level of Shift Manager is authorized to handle Store keys at any time. The Store keys must be kept by a Shift Manager or above on their person at all times.

An updated original Security Log must be signed and maintained by the Regional Vice President anytime a change is made. No copies of keys are to be kept by anyone except for the Chief Operating Officer. Any keys not noted as missing on the Security Log and later found to be missing will result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.

The loss or mishandling of Store keys or passwords may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.

This policy is very important to the safety of our employees and guests. Any violation of this policy will result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.

STORE CLOSURE PROCEDURE

Food safety regulations require the immediate closure of a facility, “If any immediate danger to the public health or safety is found. Immediate danger to the public health and safety means any condition, based upon inspection, finding or other evidence that can cause food infection, food intoxication, disease transmission, or hazardous condition, including but not limited to, unsafe food temperature, sewage contamination, nonpotable water supply, or an employee who is a carrier of a communicable disease.” Facility closure means complete closure of the Store.

THE STORE MUST BE CLOSED UNDER ANY OF THE FOLLOWING CONDITIONS:

- A. Loss of electrical power.
- B. Loss of potable (drinkable) water supply. The Store may need to close if the hot water is not working. Contact your supervisor and Quality Assurance to determine if you will be required to close.
- C. Fire and/or activation of the fire extinguisher system.
- D. Sewer backup into the Store / failed drains.
- E. Flooding.
- F. Any condition that poses an immediate danger to public health or safety and may not be limited to the items stated above.
- G. At the direction of the Health Department or other Regulatory Agency.

GOALS OF A STORE CLOSURE:

- A. Protect our guests.
- B. Complete the "Store Closure Checklist" immediately.
- C. Eliminate the dangerous situation.
- D. Re-open the Store as soon as it is safe to do so.

If the health/fire department closed the Store, do not re-open until you are allowed to do so by the health department. If you voluntarily closed the Store yourself, verify that all risks associated with the closure have been eliminated and contact your supervisor and Quality Assurance for approval to open before you re-open.

Get to know this policy very well. Failure to follow the procedures listed above will lead to disciplinary action up to and including termination.

PRODUCT ORDERING

Employees of the Company are only authorized to order or purchase items from authorized sources, either from the Company's order forms or authorized distributors. No employee of the Company is authorized to purchase any products or supplies from any other source at any time or in any case.

REPAIR AND MAINTENANCE

There are three priority levels for repair and maintenance.

Priority One = A problem that endangers the health or safety of a guest or employee, or a problem that prevents the Store from serving a product. Every effort must be made to have the problem fixed within 24 hours. See Store Closure Procedures for guidance regarding whether the problem may require Store Closure.

Priority Two = A problem that can be operated with or around until man hours and/or appropriate funding are available.

Priority Three = A problem which is not critical and can wait until appropriate funding is available. (Usually cosmetic in nature)

All priority levels are subject to change at the discretion of the Management. It is the responsibility of the Store Manager to call in all Repair and Maintenance issues. A Priority One must be called in on a daily basis until the problem has been fixed. If the problem is not fixed the Store Manager must continue to call until completed or begin to call Upper Management for resolution.

CASH & DEPOSITS POLICY

It is the Store Managements responsibility to enforce daily the deposit policy and procedures concerning deposits. The deposit policy is as follows:

1. Deposits are to be made once daily (minimum) unless the Deposit Manager requires twice daily.
2. No deposit will be taken to the bank after bank hours. Only take deposits when the bank is open.
3. Night deposits or after hours deposits are NOT allowed. All deposits must be made while the bank is open and given to a teller. Do not use machines or drop boxes.
4. A deposit receipt must be obtained every time a deposit is delivered to the bank.
5. If for any reason any deposit cannot be made on time, notify your supervisor immediately. The supervisor must make arrangements for deposits of said funds to the bank.
6. If a deposit cannot be made then RVP will have to Notify the VP and Deposit Manager Via e-mail or Text with reason why deposit will be late.

THE DEPOSIT PROCEDURES ARE AS FOLLOWS

2. Deposit slip must be signed and dated by the preparer. If a deposit does not match the amount declared on the deposit slip the preparer will be held responsible for the discrepancy.
3. If a deposit is to be left in the store after preparing manager has left, the shift manager who is going to be responsible for the store bank must verify and sign off on deposit slip and cash recon in the presence of the preparing manager. If the deposit does not match the amount declared on the deposit slip then the shift manager will be held responsible for the discrepancy.

5. Validated deposit receipts must be attached to the cash reconciliation sheet and marked off the weekly tracking form as verified. IT IS ABSOLUTELY MANDATORY FOR THE GENERAL MANAGER TO VERIFY THIS.
6. It is the RVP's responsibility to verify compliance on a regular basis. (This means each time the RVP is in the store, they should check for compliance.)
7. All deposits shall remain locked in the restaurant safe until taken to the bank.

EMPLOYEE DISCIPLINE AND TERMINATION PROCEDURES

It is important that supervisors document employee performance problems. The Company does not have a hard and fast rule as to how many warnings can be given to an employee before termination, but it is important that counseling and disciplinary actions be documented. All employees are employed "at-will." Progressive discipline is not required. The Company understands that discipline and counseling may occur verbally and informally, and that not all discipline and counseling will be recorded. Supervisors should, however, try to use the following forms to document performance or behavioral issues.

- (1) Employee Performance Notice AND
- (2) Review notes section in the electronic payroll software system

*Depending on the nature of an employee termination, failure to properly document employee performance issues prior to termination may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

After an employee is separated from employment for any reason, the supervisor should enter notes in the electronic payroll software system to identify the circumstances of the separation of employment, including but not limited to the following:

- Last day of work
- The supervisor in charge at the time of the incident/termination
- The incident(s) that caused separation of employment
- Whether the employee ever had this same incident occur before
- Did the employee quit or were they terminated
- Were there any witnesses to these incidents? Who when where?
- Was there written documentation on the employee that they signed and dated?
- Who was the person that entered these notes and performed the termination and on what date

If termination is a discharge (involuntary) or performance related, discuss the issue with Human Resources.

If the employee is being terminated due to a "No Call/No Show" situation, this should be recorded as a "Quit/Resignation" and NOT a "Discharge".

BONUS PLAN - ACTING GENERAL MANAGERS AND ABOVE ONLY

As a way of rewarding our General Managers for their dedication and commitment, the Company is proud to offer a quality bonus package. Bonuses are available to Acting General Managers and above according to the following eligibility requirements:

An Acting General Manager of a Store/Area is a Salaried Employee that was the highest level of authority responsible for the operations of the Store/Area for at least three fourths of a fiscal period for which bonuses will be paid. If a Store's performance qualifies it for a bonus in a given fiscal period and there was not an Acting General Manager or above for that Store during that period, no bonus will be paid. If the eligible Acting General Manager or above is either discharged from or terminates his or her employment with the Company prior to distribution of the Bonus Checks, a bonus will not be given. The employee must be actively employed the day the bonus is paid to be eligible for a bonus.

The Company has developed optimum levels to be used as a guide to control guest service, safety and costs. The Company reserves the right to withhold bonuses from any acting General Manager or above that performs poorly in the area of safety, service, or cost controls. Further, the Company reserves the right to amend or revoke the bonus plan at any time in its sole discretion.

COMPANY BUSINESS TRIP AND CREDIT CARD POLICY

Company paid meals: If approved in advance, the company will cover $15.00 (including tips) per day. We encourage you to support our brands while traveling.

Tipping: The standard of 15% maximum tip will be compensated again on a company sponsored trip. If you feel a better tip is warranted then you must pay for the additional amount.

Hotel/Motel Coverage: If approved in advance, employees can stay overnight in the following circumstances, if an employee is more than 100 miles away from home and has worked more than 8 hours, you are an RVP with stores that are in outer markets that require your attention, you are in the QSC department and are conducting a late night visit or early morning visit, or you are in a department that is involved in construction or remodels.

Travel: It is required that employees follow the guidelines below for all company related travel:

- Must use company credit card when booking travel and accommodations.

- Must use Southwest Airlines for all air travel with rewards #
- Must use company preferred hotels with rewards # unless a cheaper rate can be found
- Must rent vehicles from the least expensive of: Thrifty, Advantage, Enterprise, or Air ground transportation unless cheaper rate can be found.
- Must be responsible for booking your own travel using Rewards # AND providing Rewards # at time of check-in for air, ground and hotel. (note: travel is booked only upon the President's request)
- Must use credited rewards for business purposes only.

The above will be continuously audited by the company to ensure that all employees are using company funds and rewards appropriately. Violations of this policy are not permitted and may result in disciplinary action, up to and including immediate termination.

Company Credit Cards: Credit cards will be issued to departments with a need. Each credit card will have a predetermined limit to the credit card. When your credit card is at its limit you cannot spend any more, so do not send in expense report beyond the credit card. With a credit card comes responsibility. Remember how hard it is for the restaurant employees to control their costs so you can spend, spend wisely and only when necessary. When the credit card statement comes in you are required to submit all your receipts with the statement, if you are missing receipts then it will come back to you until corrected, so please send in all receipts and check off items on statements. All credit card purchases are being audited by the company. We will be tracking expenses that are inappropriate and the cost may be passed onto you, so again be responsible. All employees are required to get authorization to purchase any items that are not purchased for one of the company's stores.
